

Exeter Finance Acquired by Blackstone, Secures $600 Million Line of Credit

IRVING, Texas, August 12, 2011 – Exeter Finance Corp., a specialty auto finance company, announced it has been acquired by Blackstone from Navigation Capital Partners (NCP). Blackstone plans to invest up to $277 million in the transaction. NCP and the Exeter management team will retain a minority interest in Exeter. Exeter also announced that a $600 million line of credit has been secured.

“Having Blackstone as a financial partner is a huge vote of confidence in Exeter’s business model and long term strategic vision,” said Mark Floyd, CEO of Exeter. “Blackstone is providing a significant opportunity for Exeter to continue building on our successful platform nationwide and play a leading role in the auto finance space.”

“Exeter has a tremendous franchise and differentiates itself in the industry with its service excellence and professionalism,” said Martin Brand, a managing director of Blackstone. “We’re looking forward to working with Exeter’s outstanding management team as we grow the company.”

The new line of credit is an increase from the $150 million credit facility Wells Fargo provided in November. The credit facility will provide additional funding capacity for the continued growth of Exeter’s loan portfolio and expansion of its branch network. The credit facility is being led by Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., and includes Deutsche Bank A. G. New York Branch, Citibank, N.A., and Credit Suisse.

Consistent with its strategy to expand the company’s national footprint, Exeter is now doing business in 28 states through 24 branch offices and will continue to add branches in key markets across the U.S. Exeter’s business model focuses on providing local market expertise and personalized service to its dealers through a high-tech, high-touch strategy.

Founded in 2006, Exeter reached $200 million in total originations in May, nearly doubling its total originations in the past year alone, and currently has more than $140 million in managed receivables. The company was recognized as the top finance company for dealers in Auto Dealer Monthly’s “Best of 2010” issue.

Exeter was acquired in 2008 by NCP, which subsequently made equity investments in the company that helped establish and grow its initial branch network and expand its credit capabilities.

“Exeter’s business platform, credit discipline and talented staff have enabled the company to not only survive during a difficult financial environment, but also grow substantially since the company’s inception in 2006,” said Larry Mock, board director of Exeter and managing partner of NCP.
